

INDEX OVERVIEW

FTSE Fixed Income TPI Climate Transition Index Series

Designed to offer investors a fixed income solution to support their climate commitments

There is growing demand from investors to integrate climate considerations into their investment strategies and their implementation decisions are increasing in sophistication. Meeting this demand requires indices that go beyond a narrow focus on carbon emissions to integrate company activity within the green economy.

FTSE Russell climate indices have evolved to meet the increasing sophistication of sustainable investors and we have developed the FTSE Fixed Income TPI Climate Transition index series. This index series is designed to offer investors a solution to support their climate commitments by mitigating carbon risk, capturing green revenues and incorporating forward-looking metrics.

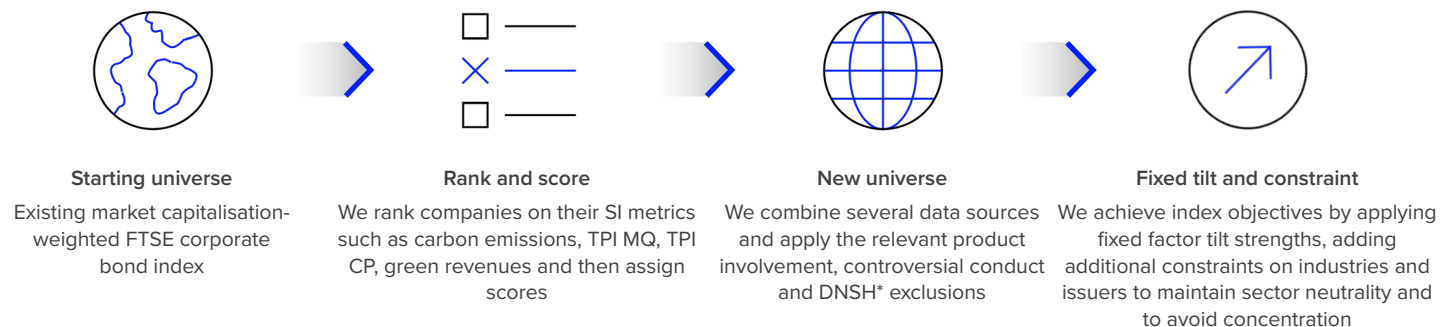

The index series methodology is designed to reflect the performance of global and regional fixed income markets, where index constituent weights are varied to account for the risks and opportunities associated with the transition to a low-carbon economy. Constituent weights are adjusted based on five key climate considerations:

- Carbon emissions
- Green revenues
- Green bonds

TPI inputs that provide a forward-looking view on company alignment with the goals of the Paris agreement via:

- Management quality (MQ) scores: reflecting companies' climate governance activities (aligned with the Taskforce on Climate-related Financial Disclosures' recommendations)
- Carbon performance (CP) scores: reflecting company commitments to emissions pathways that are aligned to the Paris Agreement and 1.5°C/below 2°C warming scenarios

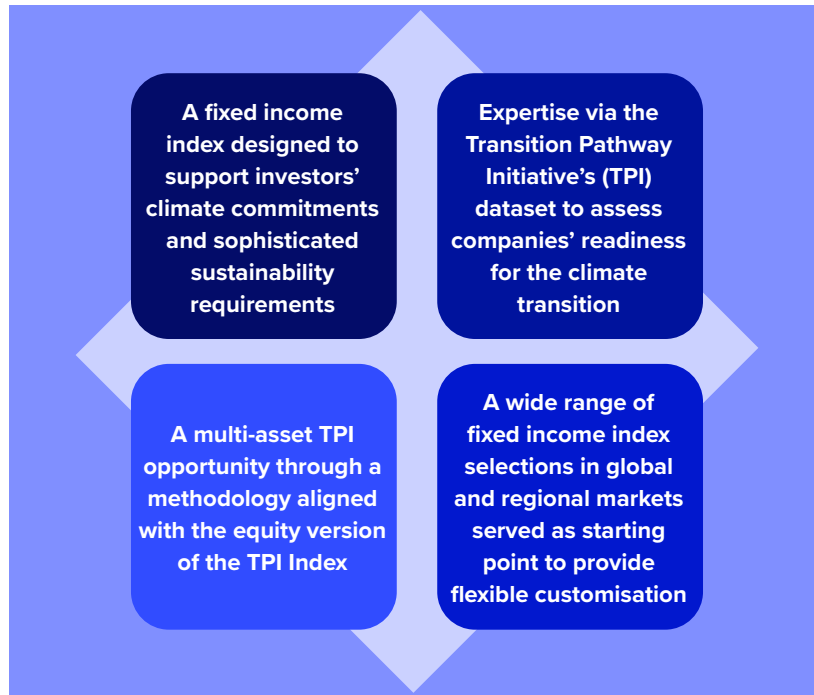

Index Construction Approach
