

Biography

John Dioufas

Director, Data and Analytics, LSEG

John Dioufas is a director of Datastream and Macroeconomics, within the Data and Analytics division of the London Stock Exchange Group (LSEG). He leads a global product team that provide solutions to clients in the trading and investment communities including deep economic and cross-asset time-series data, time-series analytics and macro models. John's team also delivers market insights and thought leadership via the 'The Weekly Macro' newsletter and quarterly Macro-themed webinars.

Prior to his current role, John held various product management positions across Thomson Reuters for seventeen years. His most recent role was within the Fixed Income/FX business, managing the Macro, Financial Institutions and the Real-Time Economics propositions within the Eikon desktop product.

John holds two BA Hons degrees, the first in law and a second in economics. An expert in financial FX and money market asset classes, John is a keen student of economics, history and political science given their overlap with macroeconomics.

Bachelor of Commerce
- Law, University of South Africa

Bachelor of Commerce
- Economics, University of Johannesburg

Post Graduate
Certificate in Finance – Birkbeck, University of London

Diploma, The Financial Markets Association
(ACI)